Dear Colleague,

ENDODONTIC REFERRALS AT DUTCH BARTON DENTAL PRACTICE WITH MR JON COWIE

As an established practice we are driven by the provision of excellence in dental care.

We understand that endodontic treatment can be time consuming and stressful and would like to work with you and your practice to make your life easier.

Referrals are accepted for:

- Root canal treatment
- Root canal retreatment and perforation repair
- Apical microsurgery

We practise using cutting-edge endodontic facilities including an endodontic operating microscope, digital radiography and contemporary preparation and obturation equipment. The practice operates to the highest standard of cross-infection control.

JON COWIE – ENDODONTIC REFERRALS

Jon Cowie is a postgraduate in Endodontics at Guy's Hospital, London working towards his specialist accreditation in Endodontics. Having already been awarded a postgraduate diploma in Endodontics with merit at Bart's and The London Hospital he is now entering the final of four years studying a Masters in Clinical Dentistry in Endodontics and Membership in Restorative Dentistry of The Royal College of Surgeons.

He divides his time between Guy's Hospital and practice limited to endodontics at The Dutch Barton Dental Practice. Jon has published in The Endodontic Practice Journal, he is contributing to the new distance learning Masters degree in Endodontology at King's college and is actively involved in endodontic research at Guy's Hospital.

Jon has been accepting endodontic referrals at the practice now for several years and aims to provide you and your patients with an excellent clinical and referral service, tailored to your needs. When desired, teeth can be completed ready with core fillings or posts to make your future restorative work much easier.

Endodontic referrals can be made by all the usual means. Feel free to write, email and fax your referral or simply give Jon a call if you wish to discuss a case. Our promise is that your patients will be returned to you having been well looked after and we look forward to working with you in the near future and for years to come.

Kind regards
